

The Tide of Immigration.
S. F. Call.
Mr. Mills of the Central Pacific Land Department says that the land sales during April last amounted to 48,000 acres, showing an increase, as compared with last year. In May and June, however, the sales in this State are smaller than those made during the corresponding month of 1884. This deficiency is met by a larger demand for land for grazing purposes in Utah and Nevada. The reason for this is that the Sierras, until lately the great grazing ground of the States, are being encroached upon by settlers, and sheep-raisers are consequently obliged to seek fresh pastures for their flocks. During the late winter a flood of immigration poured into the State, but it has, for the most part, taken the direction of Southern California. Strenuous efforts are being made in the northern portion of the State to attract settlers, and with very satisfactory results, particularly in the neighborhood of Tehama and Shasta. A large proportion of recent arrivals in this region have been Scandinavians.

WHAT IS WANTED IN NEVADA.

The Lyon County News-Reporter says:

With all the rivers, creeks and lakes of the Sierras to draw upon, the people of Nevada are slow to engage in irrigation enterprises. Great areas of land that would become fertile and as valuable as any on the Pacific coast are allowed to remain waste for lack of proper works to facilitate irrigation. In the business of irrigation our State is being left far behind by several of the Territories to the eastward. In Wyoming a great work is now completed by which no less than 60,000 acres of land will be furnished with an ample supply of water. This is the tunnel of the Wyoming Development Company, by means of which the waters of the Laramie will be made to swell those of the Sabille. This tunnel now lacks but 80 feet of completion and is being run through the hardest of gneiss rock. Its total length will be 3,000 feet. It will carry a volume of water 8 feet wide and 7 feet deep, with a flow of 1,500 cubic feet a second. The machinery used in the tunnel is driven by a Leffel turbine wheel of 150 horse-power, and the land will be broken up by steam plows. Already, this season, 500 acres have been devoted to experimental seeding, and crops of grain, alfalfa and all kinds of vegetables are flourishing finely. The best of the whole enterprise (for the Territory of Wyoming) is that the company does not intend establishing a great farm to be managed by themselves. As soon as the land is brought under cultivation it will be cut into suitable farms and sold to individuals. It is easy to see what a populous and flourishing settlement will thus spring up on this tract of 60,000 acres of land. In Idaho and Montana similar enterprises are in progress. Although we are thus being left behind it is to be hoped that capitalists will soon see the opportunities that Nevada affords and start up similar characters along the Sierras and in other places where water may be obtained and stored. There is no reason why such enterprises may not be made as profitable here as in the Territories eastward, and capitalists who are looking for opportunities for capital investments may find in Nevada many places where they may do what the Wyoming Development Company has done on the Laramie and Sabille.

DISAGREEING OFFICIALS.

The Civil Service Commissioners Have a Warm Discussion.

New York, June 23.—A Washington special says: There is said to have been a "monkey and parrot" time at a meeting of Civil Service Commissioners to-day. Some time ago it appears Commissioner Lyman investigated the charges made against the late Postmaster of Baltimore, Vesey, who was charged with violations of the Civil Service law in appointing men to places and was found guilty of the charges.

Lyman submitted a report to his colleagues this morning in expectation that they would sign. They refused to do this in the emphatic manner. There ensued a heated discussion, in which Lyman told Oberly and Edgerton that they were not carrying out the law in good faith, and that they had not the reform of the Civil Service at heart. Lyman indicated that he would be sustained in his course by the Executive, which is said to have greatly troubled "old fossil" Edgerton and Bishop Oberly. In addition to the charges against ex-Postmaster Vesey, Lyman is to investigate the charges against Collector Hedden, which have been on file some time with the commission, and which, it is whispered, the President would like to see sustained.

The Old Men Dying.

Silas W. Sanderson, ex-Judge of the California Supreme Court, died at San Francisco at 6 o'clock Thursday evening. He was a native of Vermont, aged sixty-two and came to California early in the fifties, settling down to the practice of law in El Dorado county, where he held several public offices. In 1862 he was elected Supreme Judge of California for a short term, and was re-elected in 1864. In 1870 he resigned to become the attorney for the Central Pacific Railroad, by which corporation he has since been retained. He leaves a wife and four daughters, who are at present traveling in Europe.

HON. J. H. MACMILLAN.

A Candidate for Congress Whose Word is as Good as His Bond.

The Enreka Standard says:

It is now pretty well settled that Hon. J. H. MacMillan, a prominent lawyer of Humboldt county, will be the Democratic nominee for Congress at the coming election. We are not personally acquainted with Mr. MacMillan, but his reputation among the leading Democrats of this section, is second to none, and he has the additional recommendation of being unfettered by suspicious railroad alliances, or being the tool of corporations of any kind. This is indeed refreshing, as the Democratic party has hitherto been water-logged by political hacks of that character, who have secured positions under false pretences, and when installed in office their every official act clearly indicated a willingness to serve their corporation masters, instead of the people by whom they were elected.

It was owing to abuses of this character that the people repudiated the Democratic nominee for Congress at the last election, and it will continue to weed out from its ranks all aspirants for place who subordinate the interests of their constituents to that of the railroad lobby.

We are convinced that in the candidacy of Mr. MacMillan the Democratic party can appeal to the country for its suffrage, with every assurance that the trust will not be betrayed, and that he will regard the injunctions of his party as binding upon his conscience instead of a delusion, "made to catch votes."

With such a candidate Nevada can once more be placed in the Democratic line, which is more important to the people of the State, than that any individual should be Chairman of the Committee on Pacific Railroads.

Again Mr. MacMillan's record is such as every honest man, regardless of politics, can afford to endorse. When the flag of his country was assailed he was the first to enter the ranks in its defense, and when his services were no longer required in the field, he came to Nevada, and entered the mines, and by industry and perseverance, carved his way to the front rank in the legal profession, and in all the walks of life either as a citizen or a soldier he has won the esteem of his fellowmen by his fidelity to principle and unswerving integrity.

The Standard takes pleasure in advocating the candidacy of a gentleman possessing such pre-eminent qualifications, and shall at all times grant the free use of its columns to further the aspirations of worthy candidates, and will as freely condemn the pretensions of others who have broken their pledge to the people and violated the confidence reposed in them. It is about time we ordered a halt in official corruption, and that an honest man (who regards a political office as a public trust, rather than a cloak for genteel robbery) should have the call, and we are glad that the Democrats of Nevada have taken the lead in the move, and possibly the Republican party will emulate their example.

A Resolution Amending of the Constitution of the United States.

The resolution introduced into the Senate by Mr. Ingalls to amend the Constitution by making the inauguration of the President-elect occur on April 30 instead of the 4th of March, and extending the term of office of the present incumbent to April 30, 1889, has passed the Senate by a two-thirds majority. If it should pass the House by the same majority and receive the sanction of three-fourths of the Legislatures of the United States, it will then be a part of the Constitution. There are excellent reasons in its favor. It adds scarcely two months to the working time of Congress in the short session of that body. The business of the country has become so immense that it requires for its successful performance that Congress work industriously most of the entire year. Another good change would be for that body to commence its sessions some time in September instead of December, as at present. The time allowed by the makers of the Constitution for Congressional work was long enough for the business to be done at that day, but the population and wealth of the nation have immensely increased since 1789, and there is a corresponding increase of national labor to be performed.—Enterprise.

Investigating Payne.

The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections was addressed Thursday by Congressman Butterworth, who advocated the investigation of the charges of bribery in connection with the election of Senator Payne. The Senate Committee will meet again to-day for the purpose of discussing the evidence laid before them and endeavor to reach a conclusion as to whether or not an investigation shall be made.

The Battle Mountain Nevada says: Hon. D. C. McKenney is an out and out candidate for District Judge subject to the choice of the Republican State Convention. McKenney is a good man and an able Judge and deserves the nomination from his party.

THE GOVERNMENT BUILDING.

At Carson—To be a Magnificent Structure—Its Plan and General Style—Clock—The Carson Mint.

A correspondent of the Winnemucca Silver State, writing from Washington, D. C., under date of the 17th instant, gives the following particulars of interest relative to the fine new Government building about to be erected in Carson City; also, a few words about the Mint:

The building is to front on Carson street, and is set fifty feet back from the building line. The main entrance, of course, will be on Carson street, but there will be a side entrance on the north side. The building is to be constructed of the best selected red brick, with pressed and molded brick trimmings and stone sills.

THE POSTOFFICE

Will occupy the entire first story. In the rear of the first floor will be the distributing room for mails, and at one side of the main entrance will be the Postmaster's private office, which will be quite a handsome room. The entire west front will be given to a lobby, in which will be the Postoffice screen and stamp counters; also, places for registering letters and obtaining money orders and postal notes.

THE COURT-ROOM.

There will be two main staircases, one at either end of the building. These will land you upon the second floor, which will be known as the Court-room floor. On the east side of this floor the Court-room will be located. It will be a handsome room, 38 by 41 feet, and finished in a neat but substantial manner. On either side of the Court-room offices will be located, one for the Judge and one for the Clerk of the Court, and across the corridors will be suites for other Court officials. Several vaults will also be located on this floor.

Above the second story will be the attic, which is not to be a lumber room by any means, but to be furnished in a substantial manner. The jury rooms and toilet rooms, with additional vaults for the storage of Court records, will be located here, and it is barely possible that the Land Office may be removed from Reno and occupy quarters on this floor. The main entrance on Carson street is to be through a series of four arched doorways, to which there will be a pent roof. The central feature of this front is a gable flanked with turrets. At the northwest angle there is

A CLOCK TOWER.

Which rises about 106 feet from the pavement. This clock tower gives the building a very imposing appearance, and I sincerely hope that in case a clock is put in this tower there will be some one to see that it is kept running. In about two-thirds of the Court-houses of this country you see the dial of a clock with the hands broken off, and seeming to express a sentiment that time was not made for the particular community in which the Court-house happens to be.

Let Carson see to it that her clock is kept running; she will then have a reputation at least ahead of a good many cities of perhaps greater importance.

The stairs and Postoffice screen will be constructed of hard wood. The halls and corridors will be floored with marble tiles, and the corridors and Court-room will be wainscotted.

The plans for the construction of the building will be completed, I imagine, sometime before this letter reaches you, and as there is no other hindrance the public building will then be commenced right away.

THE CARSON MINT.

The Mint came very near being "left out in the cold." The Appropriation bill, which should contain the amount necessary to defray the expenses, was drafted without mentioning the Mint. And I want to say that if it had not been for the fact that Senator Fair immediately took the matter up, appeared before the Committee on Appropriations, saw the members in person and finally had the amendment agreed to in committee, no appropriation for the Carson Mint would have been made. The amendment was carefully watched in the lower House, and only went through because of that fact. I have not the slightest doubt but that it will go through the Senate all right. The members of the Committee on Appropriations will agree to it. The bill now appropriates $114,550 for the Mint, and I feel warranted in saying that it will resume business very shortly.

ENTERPRISING.—The Enterprise, of yesterday, says: Yesterday's Reno Journal came out as a twenty-eight column sheet, devoted principally to giving a full account of the closing and graduating exercises at Bishop Whitaker's School for Girls in that place, publishing the essays, etc.; also the programme, etc., of the closing exercises of the Reno Public School. The edition was handsomely illustrated by pictures of the respective school buildings, State University, and Powung's standard map of the world, with Reno as the geographical center or hub.

The Free Lance nominates Sam Jones, brother of John P., for Governor. If Sam was nominated he'd show the boys such a campaign as they never saw before in this State.—Carson Appeal.

Up to the hour of going to press the Senatorial Committee having in charge the sale of the office of United States Senator for Nevada have received no bids for the office. Perhaps some poor man may get it after all. If it should so happen we may hail with joy the dawn of the millennium.—Virginia City Occasional.

The Carson Free Lance cheekily nominates Superintendent Sam Jones for Governor, and Sam says the Free Lance can go to sheol, he hasn't lost any Governors.—Enterprise.

STEAMBOAT PICNIC.—The Fourth of July picnic at Steamboat Springs will undoubtedly be the largest of the season. Coming, as it does, on Sunday gives those who are unable to leave their work on any other day a chance to enjoy and rest themselves in the shady grove or dance in the large pavilion to the fine music of the Virginia Orchestra. The fare from Reno and return, including admission to the grounds, will be one dollar.

STRUCK IT RICH.—Charley Wright reports to the Silver State that they have struck very rich ore in the Pennsylvania mine in Jackson District. The ore body was cut in the lower tunnel, where it intersects the vein. This has given the mine a decided boom, and encouraged everybody who has claims in the district.

NICKEL AND COBALT COMPANY.—An exchange says a company known as the Nevada Nickel and Cobalt Company has been organized in London with a capital of £250,000, shares £1 each, to work nickel and cobalt mines situated in the Table Mountain District, Churchill county.

A VALUABLE HORSE KILLED.—Last Monday a four-horse team attached to a quartz wagon owned by C. G. Stevenson ran away below the Rock Point mill at Dayton. A wheel horse valued at $250 was killed and the wagon thrown over a bluff 20 feet high.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.—All members of the Lodge are requested to meet at the Theater on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

COMMITTEE.

ARTISTIC AND BEAUTIFUL.—The Enterprise says: "At the Depot Hotel, in Reno, there is on exhibition one of the most unique and artistically beautiful and peculiar pieces of work in the world. It is a white glass bottle, or jar, of sand from the Yellowstone National Park, and brought by Commissioner W. M. Haverford from the recent Exposition at New Orleans. Most of us have seen small bottles of the pulverized carbonate ores from Eureka, ingeniously arranged in layers, representing all the colors of the rainbow, but this throws such efforts entirely in the shade, the colors being far differently and more artistically arranged. On one side is a representation of the American eagle and flag, and on the other a fine stag deer, leaping in a wild run over a broken landscape. These figures are correctly designed, and constructed by carefully arranging the colored grains of sand against the sides of the jar and securing them there by means of muffleage, with the sand closely packed or tamped to keep them in place. There are also numerous wavy lines and other devices, all constructed of the same sand, in various bright and harmonious colors, there being no less than twenty-nine different shades in all. This beautiful and peculiarly interesting souvenir is said to be the work of Mr. McGro, of Iowa, a deaf mute, who most certainly must be a model of patience as well as a true artist."

THE OVERLAND MONTHLY.—The July issue of the Overland opens Vol. VII of the new series, and will contain, amongst other attractive articles, the following: "Irrigation and Drainage," the latest California problem, by Hon. A. A. Sargent; a "Story of the South Dome" by the late Miss Santa Louise Anderson; "Crossing the California Sahara," frightful personal experience of prospectors; "With Crawford in Mexico," Lieut. Hanna's account of the recent campaign; "Tenting Sketches" from Lake and Mendocino counties; Judge John T. Doyle's study of Shakespearean Law (published by request of Lawrence Barrett.) Second installment of the Mexican serial "Chata and Chinita." There will also be a number of other sketches and short stories and a larger number of characteristic Pacific Coast articles than usual as promised the readers of this progressive and successful Magazine.

A GOOD MAN GONE.—The death of L. T. Fox in San Francisco June 22nd is announced. Deceased was a native of the United States, 58 years of age. He arrived in California in 1849, and resided in Gold Hill for a number of years, kept a meat market and accumulated a large fortune, which he subsequently sunk in speculation. He served one term as State Senator in the Nevada Legislature, and was prominently spoken of as a candidate for Governor. His popularity was unbounded, and had he received the nomination, his election was a foregone conclusion. In speaking of Fox's death, a prominent broker said he died poor, and his poverty was due in a great measure to his liberality and sympathetic nature, which would never allow him to resort to law to collect the thousands due him which he loaned.

NYE COUNTY REPUBLICANS.—The Republican Central Committee of Nye County has ordered that primaries be held in the various precincts on August 21, 1886, for the election of delegates to the Republican County Convention which will be held in the Courthouse, Belmont, on the 11th of September, 1886, for the purpose of electing four delegates to the Republican State Convention, and nominating a Republican County Ticket.
